

From Singapore to Woodlands Checkpoint

1. Pick a bus to the Woodland Checkpoint base on where you set off:

Bugis: 170, CW2

Kranji MRT station: 170, CW1

Woodlands MRT station: 950

2. Alight at the last stop Woodlands Checkpoint.
3. Check that you have your passport and some Malaysian Ringgit with you.
4. Follow the crowd up the escalator to reach Singapore Customs.

A tip from us:

Passengers can pay by cash in Singapore Dollars or swipe their EZ link cards on board SBS buses (170, 950), making it convenient for Singaporeans or tourists. Conversely, Malaysia Ringgit is payable on board the Causeway Link buses (CW1, CW2). CW1 and CW2 are direct buses, so travellers may find them more straight forward.

A rough guide in between the checkpoints

5. Clear the Singapore customs.
6. Follow the crowd down the escalator.
7. Find the queue of any bus from the same bus company you have travelled from. (does not have to be the exact same bus number).

Another tip from cross boarder students:

The longest queue nearer to the escalator usually belongs to the SBS buses (170/950). The ones further away are from Causeway Link (CW1, CW2).

8. After alighting the bus, follow the crowd up the escalator to reach the Malaysian customs.

A tip from savvy weekend shoppers:

Unlike most customs, the Malaysia customs counters are arranged in two lines. As a result, some queues are served by one counter at the end of the queue, but some queues are served by two counters concurrently. Although the queues served by two counters usually appear longer, always choose them as they move twice as fast.
